

Rohan Preston

ROAD SHOW

• • •

Before milk scald but after cock crow —
before breakfast start cook,
him stagger in, straggle in, come fe scare crow
loud something out a Dickens book.

Raking people's sleep, shooing 'way mist
and swearing to Kingdom come,
parson come a yard a beat up him wrist
preaching heavy under him rum.

To show him what real sermon is,
missus rail up to batter him down. Since hot tea no make and last night's dinner cold,
she koof him with her chimney pot.

Chicken a fly off their roost
when holy head a burn and give,
fastened dogs go clear out loose
and donkey bray fe alternatives.

Parson out a road like pirate's parrot
filth-mouth not keeping Sunday mass,
watch him stammer like jackhammer as piss-pot spirits
tear up inna him rass.

Calabash

A JOURNAL OF CARIBBEAN ARTS AND LETTERS

Volume 3, Number 2 / Fall-Winter 2005

Information about this work:

ROAD SHOW

By: Rohan Preston

Start Page: 123

URL: <http://www.nyu.edu/calabash/vol3no2/0302123.pdf>

Calabash: A Journal of Caribbean Arts and Letters is an international literary journal dedicated to publishing works encompassing, but not limited to, the Anglophone, Francophone, Hispanophone and Dutch-speaking Caribbean. The Journal is especially dedicated to presenting the arts and letters of those communities that have long been under-represented within the creative discourse of the region, among them: Aruba and the Netherlands Antilles, Maroon societies, and the Asian and Amerindian societies of the region. Calabash has a strong visual arts component.

Calabash is published by New York University. Please contact the publisher for further permissions regarding the use of this work. Publisher information may be obtained at:

<http://www.nyu.edu/calabash/about.html>

Calabash: A Journal of Caribbean Arts and Letters

© 2005 New York University