Fiah fi di man who build di firs fence
An im fren who sign paypa as evidence
Spin doctors assuring innocence
We might as well swallow; you think that we should
With a name like democracy it's got to be good

Fiah fi di man who build di secan fence
Trick poor people wid im innocence
Only think about im own existence
Imparting what god said cause he understood
With a name like democracy it's got to be good

Fiah fi di man who build di tird fence
Fatten im belly from violence
Rule power an glory an consequence
Cain destroyed Abel because he could
With a name like democracy it's got to be good

Fiah fi di man who build di fourt fence
Sell poison wid indifference
Entrepreneur minus conscience
Who seize the free market in my neighborhood
With a name like democracy it's got to be good

Calabash: A Journal of Caribbean Arts and Letters is an international literary journal dedicated to publishing works encompassing, but not limited to, the Anglophone, Francophone, Hispanophone and Dutch-speaking Caribbean. The Journal is especially dedicated to presenting the arts and letters of those communities that have long been under-represented within the creative discourse of the region, among them: Aruba and the Netherlands Antilles, Maroon societies, and the Asian and Amerindian societies of the region. Calabash has a strong visual arts component.

Calabash is published by New York University. Please contact the publisher for further permissions regarding the use of this work. Publisher information may be obtained at: <http://www.nyu.edu/calabash/about.html>
